

Atlantic Research Collaboration on Long-term Care TREC Staff Survey: Project Update

September 2024

The Atlantic region currently has limited data to understand and support long-term care staff quality of work life. The Atlantic Research Collaboration on Long-term Care (ARC LTC) surveyed staff on their physical and mental health and work environment to address this gap. The results from this study will help employers and government better support the overall health and well-being of long-term care staff in the Atlantic region.

Thanks to YOUR participation, we:

Recruited 53 care homes across Atlantic Canada

- New Brunswick – 17 (5 French)
- Newfoundland & Labrador – 8
- Nova Scotia – 20
- Prince Edward Island - 8

Collected 2305 surveys from front-line staff from November 2023 – May 2024

Collected 193 Facility and Unit Profile Surveys providing us with a better understanding of staffing and services provided.

Surveys Collected by Role:

89	Managers
154	Allied Health
724	Nurses (RNs/LPNs)
1338	Care Aides

Thank you for participating in this study!

ARC LTC is committed to sharing study results with participating care homes and staff through a series individualized reports, as well as long-term care sector webinars, and infographics, like this one, for care aides and regulated staff. The first care home report on staff perspectives on work life will be distributed later this Fall. We will continue to update you as results become available. Stay tuned!
